Three experiences, one product. The public site is the front door, the personalized portal is the heart of the guest experience, and the admin portal is the couple's command center.

Public

Public wedding website

No login. Shows public events only. Primary nav: 6 links + RSVP button.

/rsvp RSVP — find your invitation

Fallback code entry → resolves to the guest's own `/i/{token}`. Never a name search.

/404 · /i/invalid Utility states

Page not found · "We couldn't open that invitation" → code entry + contact

Nav decision: Our Story + Wedding Party merged; Home holds previews of every page so most visitors never need the nav. No dropdowns.

Personalized

Guest invitation & portal

Entered via QR (`/i/{token}`) or code (`/rsvp`). No account. One URL whose content changes with RSVP state and date.

`/i/{token}`

Invitation home (state-driven)

The same printed QR shows the right thing for the moment:

State A · not responded

Welcome landing

"Welcome, John & Sarah" · date · deadline · Begin RSVP

`/i/{token}/rsvp`

RSVP flow (5 steps + done)

1 Attendance → 2 Events → 3 Meals* → 4 Dietary (optional) → 5 Review → Confirmation. *Only if an attended event requires a meal.

State B · responded

Guest portal

Your RSVP + Edit · Your weekend (only invited events) · Your meals · Travel · Registry · FAQ

State C · wedding week (date-driven)

State D · after RSVP deadline

Answers shown, Edit replaced by "Need a change? Contact us"

`/i/{token}/photos` · later

Upload photos

Opens on wedding day; uploads tagged to household

public pages, viewed with a token

Travel · Registry · FAQ · Gallery

Reuse public pages; a "Viewing as John & Sarah" pill keeps the way back to the portal. Weekend page swaps in the personal schedule.

Privacy rule: invite-only events render ONLY inside `/i/{token}` for guests invited to them — never in public HTML, search, or shared links of other households.

Open questions for the couple

Decisions the wireframes deliberately leave open. Orange lines show what's drawn now as a default, so nothing is locked in by accident.

RSVP LOGIC

Two questions or one?
Step 1 asks "celebrating with us?" per person, step 2 asks per event. For invitations with only Ceremony + Reception, should step 2 be skipped and "accept" mean both?

Drawn: both steps always; skip is an easy change.

Ceremony without reception?
Can someone attend one but not the other? If never, group them as one RSVP line to save taps.

Drawn: separate lines.
- 3

Plus-ones
Who gets one? Must they be named before the wedding? Do they pick a meal?

Drawn: optional name, then treated as a full guest.

Children
Are kids invited? Listed by name? Kids meal option?

Drawn: "child" guest type and a Kids meal in admin.
- 5

Who answers for the household?
Anyone holding the link can answer and edit for everyone on it. OK, or should each adult confirm separately?

Drawn: one person answers for all.

Showing who's invited to what
On desktop, show "Not invited" for Sarah under brunch, or just hide her row? (Mobile hides it.)

Drawn: desktop shows "Not invited".
- 7

After the RSVP deadline
Lock answers (read-only + "contact us") or still allow edits and notify you?

Drawn: read-only.
- 8

Email at review
Optional, required, or not asked? Do you want confirmation and reminder emails?

Drawn: optional.
- 9

Note to the couple / song requests
Keep, change, or remove?

Drawn: one optional note on the dietary step.

PUBLIC SITE & PRIVACY

- 10

Venue address on the public site
Show full addresses publicly, or only city + date until a guest opens their invitation?

Drawn: public addresses for public events only.
- 11

Navigation
OK to merge Wedding Party into Our Story and keep 6 nav links?
- 12

Site-wide password?
Some couples put a password on the whole public site. Wanted?

Drawn: open public site; private events protected by token.

ADMIN & PRINTING

- 13

Who gets admin access?
Just the two of you, or also a planner or parents? Do any need view-only access?
- 14

Print in batches?
Allow printing the ready invitations while a few are still being fixed, or only all at once?

Drawn: "Print the 85 ready" option.
- 15

How will invitations be printed?
Home printer (PDF), a stationer (print-ready PDF), or a stationer merging your QR codes (CSV + PNGs)? This decides the export format.
- 16

Answers by phone or text
Confirm you want to enter RSVPs for guests yourselves.

Drawn: "Record RSVP" on a guest.
- 17

Reminders
Send nudges to non-responders from the dashboard (email / text)? In scope for v1?

Not drawn.

WEDDING WEEK & PHOTOS

- 18

When does wedding-week mode begin?
7 days out? The day before the first event? Who posts announcements — and do they need to go out as texts?
- 19

Photo uploads
When do they open? Do you approve photos before others see them? Who can see the gallery: guests only, or the public?

Drawn: opens after the ceremony, approved by you.
- 20

Day-of contact
Who do guests contact on the day (coordinator, wedding-party member)?

CHECK AGAINST THE ARCHITECTURE BEFORE HI-FI

What these wireframes assume about the data

- A

Responses per guest × event
Never one RSVP per household. Every screen assumes this.
- B

Event invitations per guest
Mixed households (brunch for John only) must be possible.
- C

Guest-level "attending" flag
Step 1 writes it and gates step 2. Stored, or derived from event responses?
- D

Meal per guest per meal-event
So the rehearsal dinner and the reception can both have meals. Dietary needs are stored per guest.
- E

Tokens are permanent once printed
Can be revoked (shows the error page); never regenerated silently.
- F

Fallback code
6 characters with no look-alike letters, unique, with rate-limited lookups. No name search anywhere.
- G

Invite-only events filtered on the server
Not just hidden on screen: they're missing from public page data and API responses.
- H

Portal state is computed
From RSVP status + deadline + wedding-week dates set in Settings.
- I

Invitation lifecycle + validation checks
Draft → Generated → Validated → Test printed → Locked → Printed, with the checklist on the detail screen.
- J

Audit trail
Who changed an RSVP (guest or admin) and when — this feeds Activity and Guest history.
- K

Partial saves
Answers stay on the device until Submit, or save step by step on the server? This decides whether "partly answered households" can be shown.
